

Final Grade Note:

Here are the final grades. Please look them over to make sure I did not make a mistake. The average on the second test was pitiful, I was not happy with those results. However, as a class you put forth a good effort, considering the amount of material and level of difficulty. I hope it is now clear to you how much time and effort a class like this can take. If you are taking summer II you best better tighten your belts.....

Since I dropped the lowest test grade I had to change the grading scheme. The final average was obtained by giving equal weight to the mid-term, homework, pre-lessons, and class exercises. That is each average was multiplied by .25.

If you are not taking Phys 1308 I wish you a great summer break. If you are signed up for Physics 1308 I will see you on Monday.....
